

The San Diego Botanic Garden realizes the importance of protecting the personal information of our donors. All information concerning donors or prospective donors, including names, addresses, telephone numbers, email addresses, names of beneficiaries or amount of gifts, etc., shall be kept strictly confidential by the San Diego Botanic Garden, its staff, volunteers and board members unless permission is obtained to release such information.

The San Diego Botanic Garden will not share, sell or trade our donors' personal information or names, nor send mailings to our donors on behalf of other organizations. This policy applies to all information received by the San Diego Botanic Garden, both online or in hard copy, including written, electronic, or oral communications. To the extent any donations are processed by a third-party provider, our donors' personal information will only be used if necessary to complete the transaction.